

COL Davis Opening Remarks

SFAB – 2030 / 2040

ACM-SFAB

SFABs advise, support, liaison, and assess to support the development of capacity and capability of foreign security forces and their supporting institutions.

- SFABs are conducting advisory missions across multiple combatant commands.
- SFABs are fielded for conflict but operates primarily in competition.
- SFABs seek to maximize their capabilities across competition, crisis, and conflict.

How can Industry assist the SFAB with interoperability between combined, joint and partnered forces across each continuum?

- Mission Command: Enhance Line-of-Sight and Beyond-Line-of-Sight Communications
- Mission Command: Enhanced situational awareness
- Protection: Airspace Defense

ACM SFAB Breakout Agenda

ACM-SFAB

Agenda

- SFAB Mission
- Global Operation
- Continuum
- Industry Opportunities
- Questions/POC

Purpose: Solicit Industry Partner Solutions to SFAB Capability Challenges

SFAB Mission and Roles

ACM-SFAB

SFAB Mission

In coordination with joint, interagency, and multinational forces, SFABs advise, support, liaison, and assess to support the development of capacity and capability of Foreign Security Forces and their supporting institutions.

SFAB Roles

- Advise – Teach, Coach, Mentor
- Support – Provide Capability
- Liaison – Connect
- Assess – Evaluate, Monitor, Report

Global Operation

ACM-SFAB

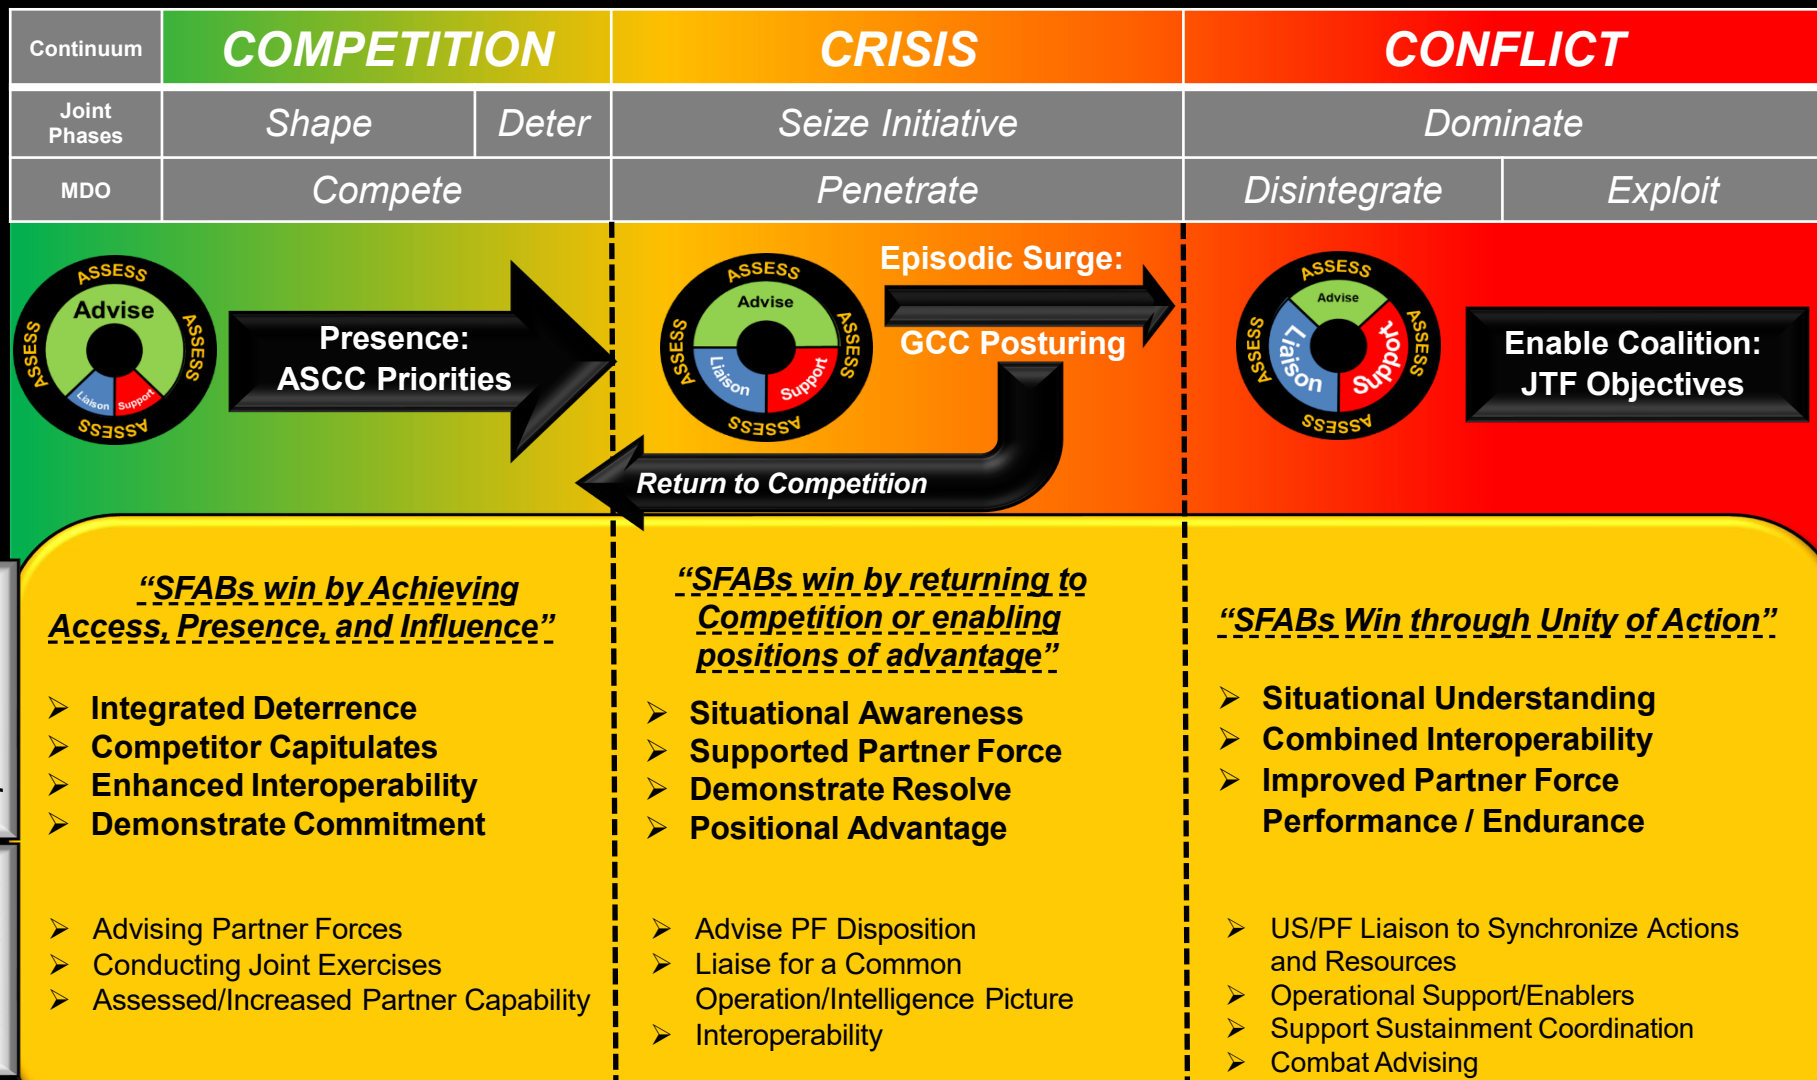

SFABs in the Strategic Contexts

ACM-SFAB

“Be the Advisor the Partner Needs; When and Where They Need It”

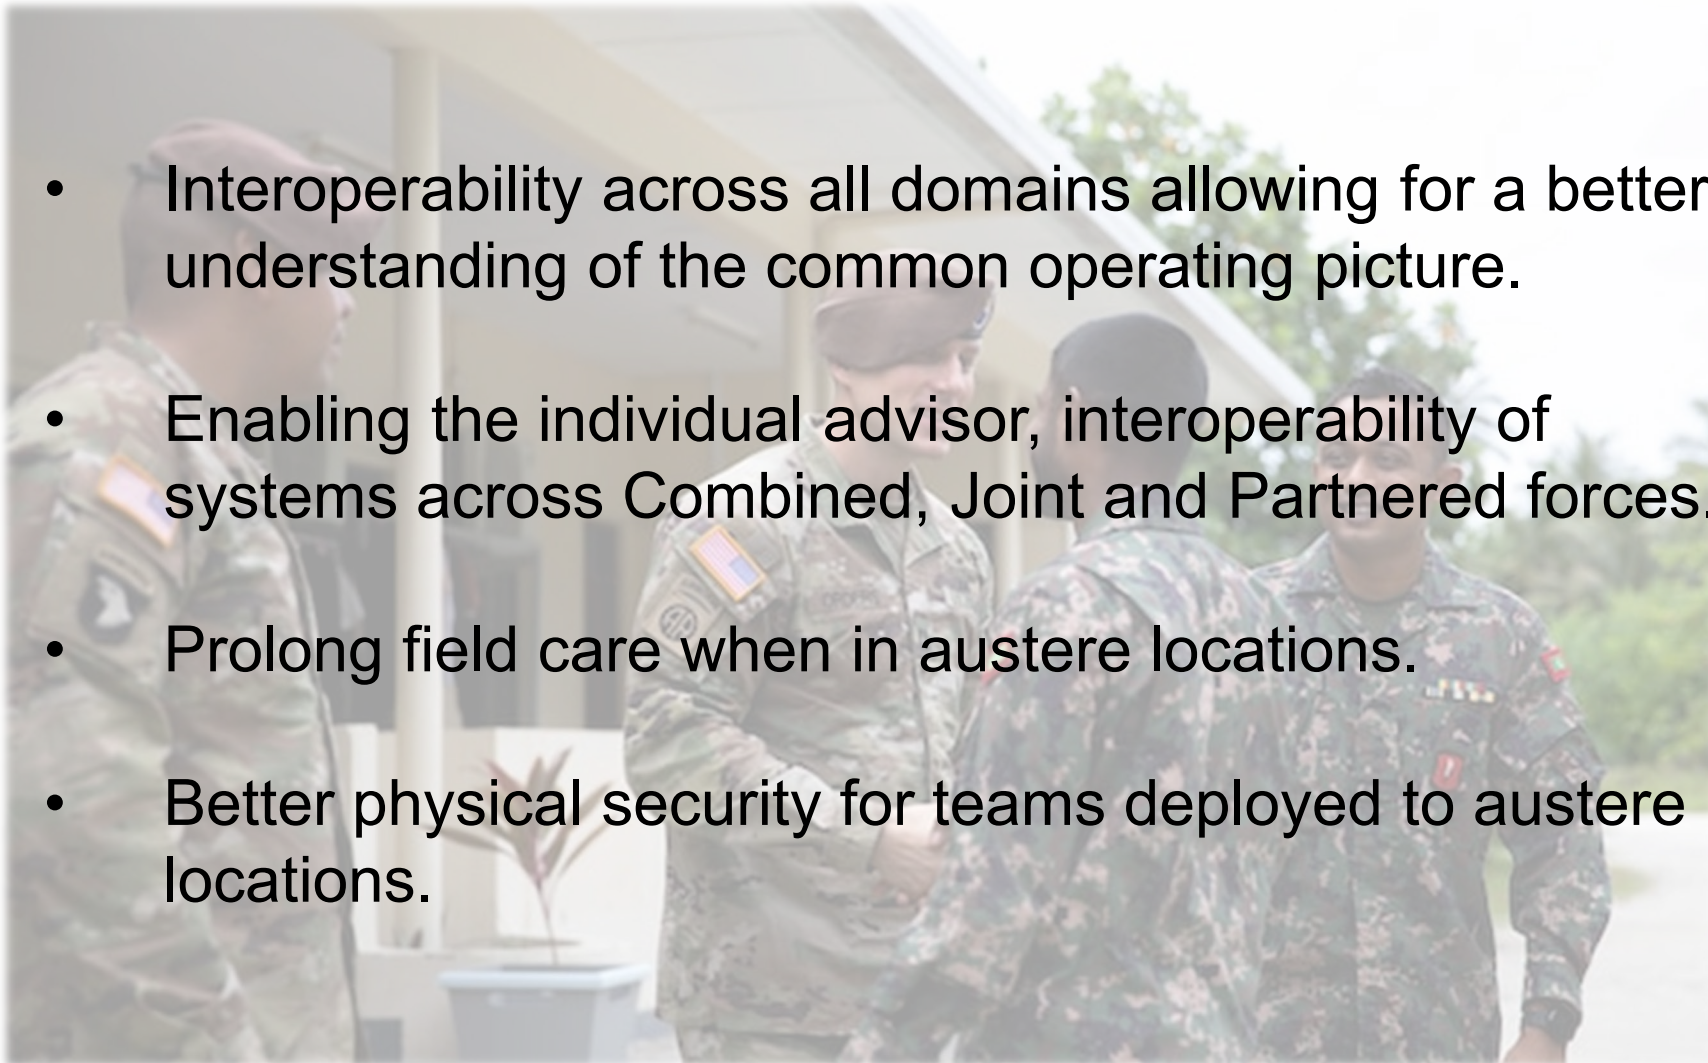

Industry Opportunities

ACM-SFAB

- Interoperability across all domains allowing for a better understanding of the common operating picture.
- Enabling the individual advisor, interoperability of systems across Combined, Joint and Partnered forces.
- Prolong field care when in austere locations.
- Better physical security for teams deployed to austere locations.

ACM SFAB POC

ACM-SFAB

Questions?

Mr. Justin Johanson

Tech Advisor

justin.b.johanson.civ@army.mil